It began with a vision for light that would do more than illuminate—a vision to shape the experience of a space. Home Société, a high-end furniture retailer with over 50 years of history, recently opened its flagship location in Montreal, a sprawling three-level environment that includes a restaurant, a flower section, high-end outdoor furniture displays, and fully staged sample rooms.

On the sales floor, where furniture is arranged as curated samples, Eric, son of the founder, selected Koncept's Combi Pendants to bring both elegance and functionality. Approximately 20 pendants in white with delicate glass balls, were installed directly into the ceiling. They come in lengths of 6", 12", and 16", creating a layered composition that enhances the scale and rhythm of the room. Drawn to their clean lines and versatile form, Eric worked closely with Artifex International Meubles to finalize the placement—no outside designer was involved, making the collaboration direct and personal.

Installed during the fall and winter in preparation for the late winter 2025 opening, the Combi Pendants illuminate the staged furniture with subtle sophistication. Each light punctuates the space with quiet authority, complementing the restaurant, flower section, and high-end outdoor furniture displays without overwhelming them. The interplay of the pendants' white bases and glass spheres against the curated interiors creates a refined presence, turning functional lighting into an integral part of the design narrative.

For architects and interior designers, this process can be taken even further with Koncept's Combi Configurator (<https://koncept.com/SpecOnline>). The digital tool allows users to experiment with lengths, finishes, and layouts, generating a customized configuration for any project. Whether planning a residential room or a commercial showroom, the configurator empowers designers to visualize, specify, and bring functional, elegant lighting concepts to life with confidence.
